First of all, we will finish off this year with our young men leading the services. I hope you will all determine to be here Wednesday December 30, 2009. There is no better way to finish a year of worship than being led by these young guys. Each of them works hard in school and after school activities as well as trying to acclimate themselves socially. The work they put into leading these Wednesday evening services is in addition to a life of work and struggle. Personally, I appreciate the effort they put into this service and would not miss it for anything. They grow each time they do this and their growth in the past two years has been outstanding. Do not miss the opportunity to worship God we have Wednesday evening and at the same time the opportunity to support these great young men who are growing up right before our eyes.

Second, this is the last Sunday of the year. I pray that you are taking the opportunity to look back on the past year. I do not mean living in the past, but learning from the events of this year. You have done some things well, how did you manage to do those things? Learn to do them even better. You have also done some things sub-par. What lessons do you take from those things? Learn to improve on your short-comings and be a better person. You struggled with sin. How can you eliminate that sin from your life? Do not let anyone tell you that you cannot. We may never be absolutely perfect, but we can certainly try. It is the true genuine effort that God desires. Spend some time this week looking back on the year-gone-by. Learn the lessons from the past, whether good or bad, and make application in your life that will make you a better person. That is the goal of the Gospel, to make application in your life that will make you a better person. That is the goal of the Gospel, to make you better today than you were yesterday. Let God's word guide you through the evaluation process and grow each day of the next year so that your work next December will be less daunting. Let's make ourselves and the Lord's church better in however much of 2010 the Lord gives us.

COUNT

Count your blessings — Not your crosses.
Count your gains — Not your losses.
Count your joys — Not your woes.
Count your Friends — Not your foes.
Count your courage — Not your fears.
Count your laughter — Not your tears.
Count your health — Not your wealth.
Count on God — Not yourself.
